Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendments of 5/31/05 have been considered.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 30, 41, 42, 44 are objected to because of the following informalities:
 - as per claim 30, the phrase “portable terminal” and “portable shopping terminal” do not match and could be confusing.
 - as per claims 41, 42, the claims seem awkward, the word “wherein” may help.
 - as per claim 44, the claim seems awkward, the word “wherein” may help.Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 23-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

as per claim 23, it is unclear how the list is generated and how it is emailed to a first computer.

as per claim 24 the phrase “the first computer which is used to generate the list” is confusing, because in claim 23, “generating a list” is not done on a “first computer” and is somehow emailed to “a first computer” as per claim 40, it is unclear how the message causes generation of the list.

4. Claims 40-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

as per claim 41, the phrase "the kiosk receives the list" appears to indicate that the kiosk does not, in fact generate the list in claim 23 and is confusing.

as per claim 42, the phrase "a list of previously purchased items is communicated" appears to introduce another list which is not used for anything and is confusing.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 30, 38 are allowable.

6. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowability.

As per Claim 30.

The prior art of record, specifically, Roach ('997) or Bianco (614) or Ruppert et al (5,424,524) do not disclose or fairly teach:

at least one kiosk that generates a customer list of items to be purchased by each of a plurality of customers; and a shopping list distribution communication device that delivers the customer list presented on the kiosk to the portable shopping terminal corresponding to the customer using the self scanning system.

As per Claim 38.

The prior art of record, specifically, Roach ('997) or Bianco (614) or Ruppert et al (5,424,524) do not disclose or fairly teach:

transmitting from a store computer to a home computing device a list of previously purchased items, the list of previously purchased items is generated at the shopping facility based on purchase history of the user; transmitting the customer shopping list via an e-mail message to a store computer of the shopping facility; storing the customer shopping list in a user data file on the store computer; in response to a user request, transmitting the customer shopping list from the user data file to a kiosk for presentation to the user; and thereafter, transmitting the customer shopping list to a portable terminal device of the user in a user perceptible format.

As per Claim 43.

The prior art of record, specifically, Roach ('997) or Bianco (614) or Ruppert et al (5,424,524) do not disclose or fairly teach:

means for storing the list in a user data file on the store computer and incorporating the list with other list information in the user data file; means for retrieving the list using a kiosk that communicates with the store computer; and means for communicating the list to the user in a user perceptible format that includes content in the form of at least one of image data, text data, audio data, and video data.

The claims that depend from the above allowable claims are allowable for the same reasons.

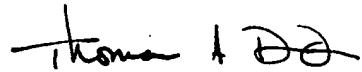

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
